Inclusion of Participants with Disabilities: A Parent and Participant Perspective Presenter: Tom Cosker

Location: S1

Inclusion of people with disabilities in recreation, including summer camps, is the responsibility of supervisors, directors, staff, and camp participants. Including people with disabilities in recreation takes not just providing opportunities but also creating a welcoming environment for all. In this session, parents will discuss what inclusion looks like from their perspective, why it is important for them and their children, and the benefits everyone receives from a truly inclusive program. Stories of both inclusion and non-inclusion will be used to paint a picture for the session participants. Attendees will gain a greater awareness of the importance of an inclusive program for parents and participants, understand some benefits of inclusive programs for all people involved in the program, and learn how to move toward true inclusion by hearing first hand stories of how inclusion and non-inclusion affects participants and their families.

Creating Games on a Minute's Notice

Presenter: Logan Gauvin, Rocky Hill Parks & Recreation

Location: S2
